Short Bio

Emily Cay Bjurqvist is an International Law Fellow at IntLaw Consortium. She graduated from Leiden University with an Advanced LL.M. in European & International Human Rights, where she was awarded an A for her thesis on Social Media Platform's Accountability in Removing and Hindering the Dissemination of Deepfake Child Sexual Abuse Material Generated by AI. She also holds a Senior LL.B. from Queen Mary University and a B.A. in Human Rights & Sociology from Kingston University.

Emily's expertise is centered on European human rights law, having contributed with Amnesty International Norway as a translator, campaign author and research officer, writing an extensive report on youth's freedom of speech which laid the ground for a multi-year project. She also regularly conducts seminars at Norwegian high schools on international human rights law. Furthermore, Emily competed in the Helga Pedersen Moot Court Competition and advanced her team to the final rounds before the European Court of Human Rights in Strasbourg,

At IntLaw, Emily works across the firm's international law matters. Her portfolio includes contributing to written submissions in international proceedings; preparing legal memoranda and reports for States and international organizations on the intersection of technology, human rights and international environmental law; assisting with hearing preparation; and developing materials for capacity-building workshops and other IntLaw events. She also supports the IntLaw Cup as part of the coordination team.
