Short Bio

Theresa Khriesh is an International Law Fellow at IntLaw Consortium LLP. She holds an LL.M. from Leiden University in Public International Law and has academic interests in treaty law and interpretation, international dispute settlement, and international regulatory governance. She also holds a Master's Degree in International Leadership and Negotiation from Universidad Europea de Valencia and an LL.B. from Haifa University.

Theresa has professional experience supporting State representation before international bodies, contributing to treaty and legislative drafting, and conducting comparative legal and policy analysis for governments and international organizations. In the public sector, she has assisted in international arbitration matters and worked on legislation in public international law, including projects related to the UNCITRAL Model Law. She has also gained private-sector experience as a Research Associate at International Shareholder Services, focusing on corporate governance, regulatory compliance, and policy development. At Leiden University, she served as an editorial assistant for an AJIL Unbound symposium on INTERPOL's status as an international organization.

At IntLaw, Theresa works across public international law matters. Her portfolio includes collaborating in drafting written submissions for States in international and regional proceedings, preparing legal memoranda and reports for clients, assisting with hearing preparation, and developing materials for capacity-building workshops and other IntLaw events.
